

GALLERY HIKE PHOTOGRAPHER GUIDE

What is a Gallery Hike?

Winners of Chikaming Open Lands photography competitions will display their photos at stations along the hiking trails at Robinson Woods Preserve, transforming the preserve into an outdoor art gallery! Attendees will walk through the nature preserve at their leisure, enjoying the photography and peaceful natural setting along the way.

What's Art Attack?

Harbor Country's Art Attack is a three-day, community-wide celebration of "All That Is Art." Held during the last weekend in April, this annual showcase of artistic and creative activity features several unique art-oriented events that take place throughout Harbor Country.

Photos to Display?

Photographers should display their qualifying photo(s) along with nature-inspired shots of the area (Michiana). Photographers can display as many pictures as they'd like but are responsible for display materials, setup, and cleanup of artwork.

Recommended Ways to Display Photos:

For proper display on a standing easel, we recommend the minimum size of the photo(s) or frame be 18inx24in. Since the Gallery Hike is outside, this will help ensure the photo(s) are enhanced by the surrounding preserve. Another way to display method is by a folding or camping tables. We appreciate creativity and look forward to seeing everyone's photo(s) and display
